

Get to know the Guardus™ from US Endoscopy

Insufflation Cap
with Seal

Tapered Tip

Since its recent introduction, the disposable Guardus™ Overtube from US Endoscopy has been used with confidence during foreign body extractions and critical cases requiring multiple scope insertions.

The ASGE "Guideline for the management of ingested foreign bodies" identifies an overtube as "equipment that should be readily available."¹ Considering safety features like a tapered tip, designed to guard against mucosal damage, and an insufflation cap to guard against backflow of bodily fluids while minimizing air leakage, the Guardus Overtube from US Endoscopy is the right choice of protection for your patients and your staff.
